On Wednesday evening, over 100 people attended and were rewarded by Rabbi Dansky's dramatised rendition of the Megillah; this was followed by a very imaginative fancy dress parade, hot dogs and chips and the highlight of the evening Joo Doo Drums, which was a massive hit with all ages. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed it.

Weekday Minyanim

The daily morning and evening minyans could do with your help. Once a week or a fortnight would make a big difference. Please contact the shul office: 020-8629 2780 if you can assist with the minyanim.

Cranbrook United Synagogue has donated £1000 to the Charity Goods for Good who are transporting donations to Ukraine.

Tzav — Sedra Synopsis

(From www.ohr.edu)

The Torah addresses Aharon and his sons to teach them additional laws relating to their service. The ashes of the korban olah — the offering burned on the altar throughout the night — are to be removed from the area by the kohen after he changes his special linen clothing. The olah is brought by someone who forgot to perform a positive commandment of the Torah.

The fire on the altar must be kept constantly ablaze.

The korban mincha is a meal offering of flour, oil and spices. A handful is burned on the altar and a kohen eats the remainder before it becomes leaven. The Parsha describes the special korbanot to be offered by the Kohen Gadol each day, and by Aharon's sons and future descendants on the day of their inauguration.

The chatat, the korban brought after an accidental transgression, is described, as are the laws of slaughtering and sprinkling the blood of the asham guilt-korban.

The details of shelamim, various peace korbanot, are described, including the prohibition against leaving uneaten until morning the remains of the todah, the thanks-korban.

All sacrifices must be burned, once they have become prohibited to eat. No sacrifice may be eaten if it was slaughtered with the intention of eating it too late. Once they have become ritually impure, korbanot may not be eaten and should be burned. One may not eat a korban when he is ritually impure.

Blood and chelev, forbidden animal fats, are prohibited to be eaten.

Aharon and his sons are granted the breast and shank of every korban shelamim.

The inauguration ceremony for Aharon, his sons, the Mishkan and all of its vessels is detailed.

I wish you all a warm and peaceful Shabbos

Rabbi Steven, Siobhan, Maya, and Talia.
